ACTION OF THE VESTRY

Practically Accepts Resignation, But Expresses Hope That Dr. Strange Will Remain.

ELECT ARCHDEACON TO-DAY

Bishop Gibson Prepared to Make Nomination—No Co-Education for Woman's College.

The resignation of the Rev. Robert Strange, D. D., bishop-coadjutor-elect of East Carolina, as rector of St. Paul's Church has been practically accepted by the vestry, who, nevertheless, express the hope that he may alter his determination to leave Richmond.

Shortly after the election of Dr. Strange to the bishopric, the vestry was hurriedly called to meet and take some action toward keeping him here. Before the members could assemble the commission from East Carolina arrived and Dr. Strange after a consultation announced that he would accept the call. This virtually rendered any action by the church useless. The vestry met Friday night and took the matter up. The details of the session are not made public, but it is learned that a committee composed of Major Robert Stiles, Judge Bev. T. Crump and Mr. William C. Bentley was appointed to draft a letter to Dr. Strange. This was done yesterday, but the letter for the benefit of the congregation will be printed first in the Parish Register, which appears next Sunday.

The executive committee of the Diocesan Missionary Society will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and will elect an archdeacon for the diocese. Bishop Gibson said yesterday that he will probably be prepared to make a nomination, but he would not at that time indicate who the man will probably be. There is but little outside talk concerning the matter. The nomination is entirely in the hands of the bishop, upon whose recommendation the committee will elect.

One of the most important in the diocese, and will probably command the services of some prominent minister of the church. The position carries a salary not to exceed $2,000 a year.

SERMON TO GIRLS.

Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, of Grove Avenue, preached the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the Woman's College at the First Baptist Church on Sunday night. The attendance was very large. The sermon was an eloquent one on the subject of "The Higher Education of Women and the Woman's College." The speaker reviewed the history of the higher education of women, and then spoke of the woman's college. His concluding paragraph was significant.

"At his (Dr. Nelson's) suggestion the name of the school was changed from Richmond Institute to Woman's College. I am sure that I am warranted in saying that it is Dr. Nelson's wish that the woman's college should remain a woman's college. He has never had any sympathy with the co-education plan, and while he remains at the head of this institution there will never be any doubt as to its gender. An application even from the most effeminate young man in the nation would be turned down with an emphasis that would never be forgotten. Co-education will soon be a dead issue."

MINISTER IN THE FIGHT.

Virginian in Tennessee Wages War for Civic Righteousness.

A short while ago there closed in Memphis one of the hottest municipal campaigns in its history. Persistent rumors of corruption were afloat.

A reform movement was started and an organized fight made upon the "ins." At the forefront of this movement was a young Virginian, Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Not only from his pulpit did he set forth the principle of civic righteousness, but one of the leading papers of the city turned over to him a column, and from the point of vantage he sent rifle broadsides into the ranks of "the ring." A dozen "leading men" were arrested on a warrant sworn out by him, and a prominent layman for alleged conspiracy to break the peace of the Sabbath by engaging in a race. They in turn entered suit against the signers of the warrant for $100,000 damages for

PARKER NOT THE CAUSE

Mr. Murphy Makes Explanations Concerning the Warfare Against Senator McCarran.

HITS BROOKLYN SENATOR

Says McCarran Wanted Wide Open Town and That Led to Battle.

In Saturday's issue of The Times-Dispatch there was printed a special from Washington, which brought out the fact that there was a movement on foot to oust Charles F. Murphy, the present leader of Tammany Hall Democracy.

Yesterday's New York Tribune contains an interview which does not bear directly on this subject, but sets forth the details of the present trouble existing between Senator McCarran and Mr. Murphy.

The Tribune says:

The statement of Mr. Murphy, given out by Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, was in the form of questions and answers. It was as follows:

"Have you seen the statement issued yesterday by Bird S. Coler, in which he insists that the differences between yourself and Senator McCarran arose over the question of police policy in Brooklyn, and not over politics?" Mr. Murphy was asked last night.

"I have," replied the Tammany leader.

"Then, Mr. Murphy, the assertion which has frequently been made that you and the senator disagreed because he favored the nomination of Judge Parker is not true?"

"It is absolutely false," declared Mr. Murphy emphatically, "and Senator McCarran knows it."

"How about his charge that you have been trying to curtail Brooklyn's autonomy?"

"That also is absurd and untrue, as recently stated show. Let me say now, as emphatically as I can, that Senator McCarran's declarations in favor of Judge Parker had absolutely nothing whatever to do with causing our disagreement, nor had any alleged interference on my part with the nomination of Judge Parker. It is better than does Senator McCarran. These reasons have been given out by him to the public in order to disguise the real cause."

"You will note that no complaint was ever heard of any interference with the police affairs until it was rumored that the police commissioner had become dissatisfied with his Brooklyn deputy. But when that deputy was removed the charge was then for the first time loudly proclaimed."

"It is assuming that the commissioner's action was prompted by politics, the newspapers did not ascertain the real cause."

"Do you mean, Mr. Murphy," he was asked, "to intimate that the former Brooklyn deputy police commissioner was removed because of something that reflected upon his conduct of police affairs in Brooklyn?"

"Commissioner McAdoo is better able to answer that question than I am," replied the Tammany leader. "In connection with the subject of Brooklyn's autonomy, I wish to say that every appointment of Brooklyn men to office under the present administration before the removal of the Brooklyn deputy police commissioner was made on the recommendation of the Brooklyn Democratic party, of which Senator McCarran was the leader. There was no complaint then of any interference with Brooklyn's autonomy."

"People should remember that just before the recent city election Tammany was against which the fight was made principally, promised a good, clean government in the event of success. If moral foulness exists, no matter by whom encouraged, the blame will fall upon Tammany Hall, especially if the foulness is many fold."

Had less concern been shown recently for the preservation of the decency of Brooklyn there might have been no difference between Senator McCarran and myself, no pretense that the president's question, and no excuse that he is fighting in defense of the autonomy of Brooklyn."

"In other words, the sole cause of the disagreement between us was over the fulfillment of the promises made to the Democracy of this city that the Democratic administration would not stand for blackmail and corruption of any kind anywhere in Greater New York, no matter by whom encouraged, but that the people would get what was promised them—a clean, economical and efficient government."

The statement then adds:

"Police Commissioner McAdoo was seen at his home and asked as Mr. Murphy's reasons for the removal of Henry F. Haggerty, Senator McCarran's law partner, as deputy police commissioner for Brooklyn."

"Mr. Murphy's reasons for Haggerty's removal are correct," declared the police commissioner. "Politics figured absolutely not at all in his removal, which was because Mr. Haggerty was entirely out of sympathy with the administration of affairs in the police department. That being the case, for the good of the service he was removed and his place filled by a man who was willing to act in harmony with the police commissioner. In regard to any other feature of Mr. Murphy's interview, I can say nothing at this time. Tomorrow I shall read it in type, and probably shall be willing to dictate and issue a typewritten statement covering my participation in the case."

BOTH JAWS SHOT AWAY

Still a Successful Business Man. A man who had both jaws shot away had trouble eating ordinary food, but found a food-drink that supplies the nutriment needed. He says:

"I have been an invalid since the siege of Vicksburg, in 1866, where I was wounded by a mine ball passing through my head and causing the entire loss of my jaws. I was a drummer boy and at the time was leading a skirmish line, carrying a gun. Since that time I have been awarded the medal of honor from the Congress of the United States for gallantry on the field."

"The consequences of my wound were dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and I finally proved ordinary coffee was very hard on my stomach, so I tried Postum, and got better. Then I tried common coffee again, and got worse. I did this several times, and finally as Postum helped me every time I continued to use it, and how often I think that if the government had issued Postum to us in the army how much better it would have been for the soldier boys than coffee."

"Coffee constipates me, and Postum does not; coffee makes me spit up my food, Postum does not; coffee keeps me awake nights; Postum does not. There is no doubt coffee is too much of a stimulant for most people, and is the cause of nearly all the constipation."

"This is my experience and you are at liberty to use my name." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

bunch of "mugs" in the pen, and led him forth.

"Up against a keg of buttermilk, hey?" queried the Sage.

"Up against it," Smith agreed.

"How long have you been enjoying the fresh air of freedom?"

"Ever since last February. And it wouldn't be like this here now, if the old woman had or had something to eat when I went home after a hard day's work, fishing, at Mayo's Bridge. These women are enough to send anybody to drink."

"That's so; some of them are, and giving you the benefit of the doubt, you may go hence to the shades of Capitol Square."

"The man who plants himself in the end of a street and has just as much sympathy from me, as the fellow who lays around drunk all day Sunday," said the Sage; "therefore, I send Jerry Smithers down for thirty days."

Next came a few small Saturday night jags, all presented. The men turned loose, and the story of John Harmon was told.

John was sent to the grand jury for shooting Silas Tompkins.

The two negroes were at work on a sewer. They got into a quarrel. John says Silas ran at him with a pick, and to protect himself he shot him. Silas was carried to the City Hospital, where he died Sunday morning.

BABY'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Fall From Third Floor Porch Broken by a Clothes Line.

Mrs. Belle Smith's baby girl was saved in a peculiar manner from serious injury, if not death, Sunday afternoon. The child was playing on the back porch of the mother's house, No. 609 East Main Street, and had crawled to the edge of the porch, outside the railing, three stories above the yard, within a few feet of the child and saw the great danger that confronted the little one. She was paralyzed with shock and she waved a paper at the child.

Just at that moment a young girl let fall a basket, which she was carrying, from sight in her fall to the pavement below.

Mrs. Smith screamed and ran frantically to the yard, when at the sight of her little one lying apparently lifeless she swooned.

Dr. Mercer, of the City Hospital was summoned. The child was soon brought back to consciousness with little damage from the fall. The mother altered much her mental faculties until yesterday morning.

The child's life was saved, in all probability, when the body struck the clothes line in the fall. The force was broken from the child's body, and she fell, and the actual fall was but a few feet. Doctors reported as getting along nicely last night.

REINECKE vs. JONES.

Light-Weight Champion to Meet the Middle-Weight Champion.

Clever Benjie Jones, the champion light-weight wrestler, of Newport News, is after Reinecke.

Several weeks ago Jones met Reinecke in a handicap match, in which the latter threw the former twice in an hour. Reinecke said he could throw him five times in an hour just as well as Jones could throw him five times in an hour or two hours.

Reinecke has accepted the defiance, and will meet Jones's side bet of $100. The match will be at the Bijou Thursday night.

Dwyer had trouble in throwing Jones twice in an hour in one match, and in another match he failed to do so.

MOSQUITOES; THEY MUST GO

There Will be Uniform Laws to Accomplish Their Utter Annihilation.

ALL THE STATES TO ACT

The Pest as a Disease Distributor Discussed by Government Experts.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Extermination of the disease carrying mosquito by the united efforts of State organizations and legislation was the most important topic of the conference of the State and provincial board of health representatives which has just come to a close here. Uniform legislation by the various States for this purpose was demanded by a resolution unanimously passed.

The mosquito and its relation to man as a disturbing factor has long been a source of investigation by the scientists of the Agricultural Department and other experts of the government. The Marine Hospital service, under the direction of Surgeon-General Wyman, conducted a series of investigations, and all these inquiries agree in the conclusion that the mosquito carries infection and is largely responsible for the ravages of yellow and other dangerous fevers.

Mr. Henry Clay Weeks, of Bayside, Long Island, secretary of the National Mosquito Extermination Society, read an elaborate paper, taking the view that the mosquito cannot breed without water and that, therefore, if the surface of the water were coated with oil, mosquitoes would be unable to propagate their kind and the dangers due to their presence would cease to exist.

Such a policy in yellow fever countries would, Mr. Weeks says, "effectually eradicate that fever." Those who say there is any other means of contracting yellow fever and malaria than by the bite of inoculated mosquitoes must prove their case. The reverse has been shown.

Resolutions calling for legislative assistance in dealing with the mosquito pest were adopted. These resolutions declare that "it has been established that the diseases of yellow fever and malaria are transmissible by mosquitoes of certain species," and that it therefore is the duty of State boards of health to obtain such legislation and appropriations as may be necessary to insure drainage of swamp lands and to treat the surface of shallow pools and ponds with such substances as are recognized as being destructive to the life of mosquitoes of all species."

During the discussion it was contended that with the proper use of larvicides and drainage for eliminating mosquito breeding conditions, there would be vast less loss of life during the construction of the Panama Canal than there has been in the construction of like works.

FARMER SHOTS ENEMIES

Kills Two Men as Result of Bad Feeling of Two Years' Standing.

A special to Monday's New York Herald from Lexington, Va., says:

Edward McCormick, a young farmer of Brownwood, sixteen miles from here, last night shot and instantly killed John W. Wade and Arthur Blackwell.

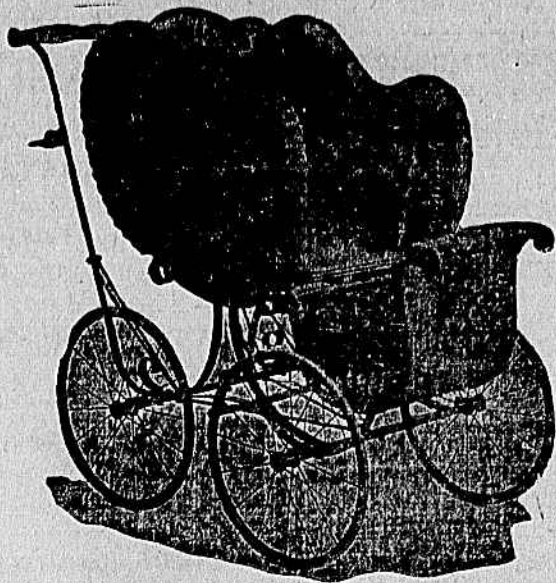

The shooting was the result of bad feeling that had existed between the men for three years. It is asserted that Wade and Blackwell had been drinking and waylaid McCormick and his father on their way home and stoned them, whereupon young McCormick fired, shooting Wade through the heart and Blackwell through the lungs. McCormick was arrested.
